

RED DE UNIVERSIDADES EUF - CAMPUS EUROPAE

The European University Foundation (EUF) is a European network of universities which stands for diversity and social fairness in higher education and aims to accelerate the modernisation of the European Higher Education Area. The network deploys intensive cooperation and policy experimentation under five key pillars:

1. Quality mobility for all
2. Digital Higher Education both for governance and the provision of education
3. Entrepreneurship and employability skills of graduates
4. Policy innovation at national and European level
5. Active citizenship of students

The network's key activities are designed to build capacity and expertise among administrative and academic staff members, to raise awareness of EU policy goals and actions, and to enable policy dialogue between practitioners, policy-makers and stakeholders.

The activities are underpinned by a modern approach to high quality student mobility - as a driver to advance and intensify cooperation in higher education. The network supports member universities in setting up strategic partnerships, knowledge alliances and capacity building activities to achieve the goals set in each of the pillars.

The current members of the network can be found here:

The main support and services offered to the member universities are:

- Delivery of hands-on information on EU policies and calls for proposals
- Organisation of trainings and conferences on European policy development and trends in higher education
- Incubation and acceleration of EU project proposals from member universities
- Provision of meeting and office space in Brussels for staff of member universities
- Organisation of advocacy activities towards the European institutions (Commission, Parliament)
- Contribution towards a greater visibility of member universities in the European Higher Education Area.
